County Red Cross Campaign Fund Now Totals $62,387.12

Warren County's Red Cross War Fund Campaign now totals $62,387.12 with final figures yet to be tabulated. It marks one of the most successful war fund campaigns ever held in the history of Warren County, a campaign whose quota was $42,600.

Many communities in northwestern Pennsylvania and in the adjacent states of New York and Ohio are still striving for quotas as the month of March, Red Cross month throughout the country, draws to a close. But, Warren county's whirlwind, five day campaign was a success from the beginning to end.

The break down between the borough and county shows the following:

Borough $43,254.53

County 19,132.12

Cars Crash At Dimes Drive Intersection; In County Is One Injured Over the Goal

Mrs. Stewart Loding, 321 Prospect street, suffered from shock and possible severe injuries to her right arm and shoulder this morning when, following a crash, her car careened into the railing in front of the Warren National Bank. Mrs. Loding, who had suffered a fractured wrist last December, was on her way to the Warren General Hospital.

At Second and Liberty streets, according to police reports, she entered the intersection as Gerald D. Lucas, Sigel, Jefferson county drove south on Liberty street. The cars crashed and the Plymouth sedan driven by Mrs. Loding was swung about to the right. The machine crashed up over the curb and into the railing about the stairway leading to Danny Cochran's Barber Shop. Pieces of the iron railing were smashed out and thrown with such violence that the plate glass window in the barber shop was smashed. Glass in the door was also broken and one of the windows in the bank was shattered.

Police were on hand and Mrs. Loding was sent to the Warren General Hospital in the car of Cpl. Arthur Christensen, where X-Rays will be taken to ascertain the full extent of her injuries.

The investigation of the police was quickly done and Lucas was taken to the police station where he made a statement. He is employed by the National Forge and Ordnance Company and works at the home of Joseph Lucas, Main street, Youngsville. He stated that he was proceeding southward on Liberty street when Mrs. Loding went through the red light and his car struck the Plymouth sedan. He was proceeding slowly, according to his statement, and his car shows little effect of the crash. The Loding car shows marks on the right rear fender where it was hit and the fender is bent to some degree. The hood was also sprung by the impact with the iron railing.

Let's raid the icebox...Have a Coca-Cola

...a way to make a party an added success

At home, the good things of life come from the kitchen. And one of the good things is ice-cold Coca-Cola in the icebox. Have a Coke are words that make the kitchen the center of attraction for the teen-age set. For Coca-Cola never loses the freshness of its appeal, nor its unfailing refreshment. No wonder Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes from Maine to California,—has become a symbol of happy, refreshing times together everywhere.

By CURT REISS

(Copyright, 1945, NEA Service, Inc.)
Bernie, Switzerland, March 28.—Don't discount German chances of continuing the war through summer, is the advice given by military observers here. Despite outward appearances that the Nazi military situation is utterly desperate, Allied hopes for a quick end of the war may be exaggerated, observers say.

Basis for the belief that the Germans may hold out for several months is the fact that the Wehrmacht still is larger than Allied countries believe.

How many soldiers does Germany have? My sources say 270 divisions. A German division today is made up of 7,000 to 10,000 men. Units which are not counted as belonging to a division—supply troops, artillery, intelligence, aircraft engineers—provide an additional 2800 to 4000 men. Altogether, Germany's regular armed forces are put at three million troops.

The high command supposedly saved most of its troops during the retreat in France and even now during the retreat across the Rhine. Estimates here put losses in regular troops during the French campaign at 50 to 60 divisions. The Allies say that they have taken 900,000 prisoners. The explanation here is that at least a third were not regular fighting troops, but technical units, such as the Todt Organization.

Together with the Volksturm, the German fighting apparatus consists of an estimated 5,000,000 men. But it is readily admitted here that the fighting value of the Volksturm is almost zero. This coincides with all information received by me lately from Germany. Hitler hoped to change the war into a people's war by creating the Volksturm, Goebbels spoke in the early fall of a two-and-a-half million Volksturm army, but on November 1 the Volksturm comprised hardly more than a million. Only during the emergency did it increase to two million. The Volksturm has had only sketchy training in insufficient armament.

Weapons of the Volksturm are shut away in school houses, railway stations and industrial plants. They are loaned only for the duration of their training. Only one conclusion is possible—that the Nazis feel safer if the Volksturm is not armed before meeting the enemy.

Reports are unanimous in saying that Hitler's great experiment failed. The Volksturm men do not obey or react quickly to orders, as do regular soldiers. The people's army is made up of civilians who are either too old or too young. Many are unfit for service, being partly disabled or suffering from chronic diseases.

On the western front the Volksturm failed completely, as was proved in Eisenhower's communications. It is symptomatic that they took off their armbands once fighting became senseless, simply reverting to normal citizens. Just as though they were going home from business. In the east they would have done the same except for their deadly fear of the Russians.

Therefore, everything depends on the regular army of three million. The army still is held together by stringent discipline. Many soldiers feel precisely like the Volksturm, but the habit of obeying commands of officers is stronger than personal feelings.

Morale of the troops has gradually and constantly become worse since Stalingrad. There have been a great number of desertions. From an impeccable source I received news of the ever-growing numbers of executions of soldiers and the ever-growing size of concentration camps for soldiers, into which they are sent for disobedience. These camps are supposed to be the most horrible ones in Germany.

Military observers advise against a hasty conclusion that the Nazis have collapsed. Though it isn't generally known, army morale was in a state of collapse once before. That was when the Germans had to retreat speedily from France. Many units dissolved and tens of thousands of soldiers had only one thought, namely, to get home. That was in September and sources inside Germany say that if the Allies had then risked everything, using the last drop of gasoline and the last bullet, the war might have been over.

This is, of course, speculation. As things were, the situation was saved by the speedy action of Hitler. He formed special SS units, posting them at intercepting stations on a certain line beyond which no soldier must escape. There the fleeing soldiers were reorganized into new battalions and companies and sent back into the fight.

It seems almost impossible that this German army, or what is left of it, may be capable of conducting even a normal defensive warfare, which involves at least occasional tactical offensives.

The surprise of the Rhine crossing at Remagen may have upset the entire German plan. If decisively so, the next few weeks will prove it. The fact that the bridge wasn't blown up can only be explained by sabotage committed by higher officers in the German army. Perhaps knowledge of this fact, which already is spreading within the German army on the right bank of the Rhine, will accelerate deterioration of morale.

Ration Board Has Warning On War Books

Attention of all holders of War Ration Books 3 and 4 is called to the following communication from the local war price and rationing board:

The replacement of War Ration Books in the past three months has been two-thirds higher than any other quarter in the past. It is obvious that the public has not actually started losing books at a faster rate but that people are applying for the replacement of books that were not, in fact, lost, stolen, destroyed or mutilated.

The general public fails to recognize the fact that these books though in their possession, remain the property of the United States government and are to be used only in the manner and for the purpose authorized by the OPA. Purposes authorized do not include finding a book and keeping it instead of returning it to the local rationing board, and neither do they include making false application for stamps which have become loose and lost.

Out of the hundreds of lost books reported to the local rationing board, not more than 25 have been returned, which means that more than one-third of the population of this county are receiving twice their rightful share.

The local board has wide discretionary power under Procedural Regulations No. 12 for dealing with this problem. As was pointed out in the latest bulletins, inasmuch as the total of applications for these lost books has shown a definite increase instead of decrease, it will be necessary that all applications for replacements be investigated to detect the fraudulent cases. This investigation may require the applicant to report loss to the police, make personal appearance at a board meeting and result in having ration held for 30 days.

The board's position is admittedly difficult, since we do not wish to deny ration books to those who have a legitimate reason to receive them. At the same time, however, if the rationing regulations are to have any meaning, it is imperative that we stop issuing books to those who are applying merely to get additional rations.

FALSE PEACE STAMPEDE

While the Allied offensive out of the Rhineland is operating under a partial news blackout for security reasons, despite yesterday's false rumors that hostilities were to cease which threw Warren and the rest of the nation in a helter of excitement, reports continue to give a picture of a fast moving front whose very fluidity bespeaks the extent of the disaster which the Allies are piling onto the Germans.

Obviously we are getting close to the end of the conflict. However, let's take a lesson from yesterday's peace-stampede and not have another premature celebration such as we had in the last war.

As General Eisenhower says, the German force on the Western Front "is a whipped army — but there's "darn tough fighting ahead." That's our cue to take it easy, though we can be happy in the knowledge that things are going so well that Nazidom's complete collapse isn't far off.

What we must recognize is that one can't throw seven Allied armies across one of the world's greatest rivers and expect them to do a non-stop sprint to Berlin or the Russian front like a runner doing a hundred yard dash.

General Ike says that the extent of the Allied thrust beyond the Rhine is limited at present by the problem of supply. The speed of our advance depends heavily on supplies and the build up of the seven armies.

In the meantime may we remind that the first official news of victory in Europe will be received in Warren over The Times-Mirror reliable Associated Press wires, whether it comes during the day or night, and plans have been perfected by the Citizens Committee to inform the community in no unmistakable manner.

PAPER SHORTAGE

The reading public will be fascinated to know that volume three of "Federal Power Commission Reports" has come off the government presses in Washington. It presents the Commission's opinions and decisions from Jan. 1, 1942, to Sept. 30, 1943. It is a stout volume of 1180 pages.

Be sure to save every scrap of salvageable waste paper. Maybe some of it will find its way into "Federal Power Commission Reports, Vol. IV."

Funny how housecleaning time makes the housewife discover that the family was lucky to have lived through the winter in such a dirty house.

In The Fellowship of Prayer
LOVE IS NEVER WASTED
"Why was this waste of the ointment made?"—Mark 14:4.
Read Mark 14:1-9.
So gratitude gave its most precious possession in one lavish impulse and asked nothing in return. The deed hushed the room, the perfume filled the air and then they murmured, "why this waste?"
Ah, but love and gratitude are never wasted. Amidst our incredible prodigality they are a blessed economy. So much we spend buys only regrets. So much we try to keep is lost. Only the gifts of the heart are permanent. They are treasured in recollection, they brighten shadowed lives, they enrich those who give, and bless those who receive. Beauty is never wasted, though it be only a poppy petal. Goodness is never wasted, though we cannot see its issue. Suffering bravely borne is never wasted nor any sacrifice which gives the last full measure of devotion.
Never, therefore, be afraid to be prodigal in gratitude and tenderness, in the pure impulses of love, in any ministry of beauty or grace or any gift of self to any of God's causes. A divine economy treasures and makes them immortal.
Prayer: O Thou, in Whose keeping what we seek to do is secure, we thank Thee for all those through whose gifts of love we have been healed. For every treasured memory of kindnesses which have brightened our pilgrim way, for every generous deed which has enriched our souls, we bless Thy name. May we withhold no gift in which another may be blessed. His name who gave Himself. Amen.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Add to the congressmen to keep your eye on, Rep. Michael J. Mansfield, Democrat of Missoula, Mont.

He's just starting his second term. As lawmakers go, he's young, having just celebrated his 42nd birthday.

Not so very long ago, President Roosevelt called Mansfield to the White House. What he said, in effect, was "Mike, I have had reports on China from the diplomats and the military men. You are acquainted with the Orient. I want you to go out there as my representative and come back and tell Congress and me just what you think about it."

Mansfield came back with renewed faith in the Chinese, but with a full awareness of the problems they face and the problems we have ahead in making them an effective instrument in the war on Japan.

He was peculiarly fitted for this observation and report. Early in 1918, before his fifteenth birthday, Mansfield joined the Navy. Discharged after 10 months, he enlisted in the Army for a year, then served in the Marines from 1920-22, most of the time in China. If there's any other member of Congress who has served in all three branches, I haven't heard of him.

BACK in Missoula and Butte, Mike turned to mining, decided he needed more education than you get out of the eighth grade and started studying up. He studied enough to pass the entrance examinations for the Montana School of Mines and went from there to the state university. By 1933 the lad who had skipped high school was a professor of eastern history at Montana U.

In 1942 Jeannette Rankin, only member of Congress to vote against war after Pearl Harbor, retired, and Mansfield was elected to succeed her.

Mansfield doesn't play follow-the-leader, but the young liberals in the house count him on their side. On occasion he has pointed out that the farmers constitute 23 per cent of the population, yet receive only 7 per cent of the national income. He has championed labor, small business, old age pensions, jobs for veterans and security for the young as well as old.

A LITTLE over two years ago Mansfield was appointed to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, quite an honor for a freshman member. But when Rep. James F. O'Connor of Montana died, Mansfield tossed that honor aside to become a member of the committees on Indian affairs, irrigation and reclamation, and public lands.

"I represent Montana," he explained simply, "and although I regret foreign affairs, the topics that come up in these other committees are closer to the state of Montana."

He believes strongly in the west. "We are on the brink of a vast new Pacific era," he said recently. "In that era, the United States must join hands with China and other Pacific nations to restore peace and end the rivalries that lead to war."

There already is talk among his associates that he will be governor or senator from Montana some day. His only comment on that is: "I'll just take things as they come."

Most spectacular of U. S. armies, the inspired Third, led by famed, gun-toting, tough, unpredictable Gen. George Patton Jr., has smashed its way across the Rhine after a sensational series of victories. The map traces the driving, twisting path of the Third. After the brilliant Normandy break-through, Patton's untiring tankmen slashed through France, past World War I battlefields (1), to Metz; assaulted the Saar area (2), but had to let up in their drive last December to streak north (3), where the Germans had made a sudden break-through in Belgium. Meeting with the U. S. First Army at St. Vith to end the Battle of the "Bulge," the Third regrouped for their surprise slash at Coblenz (4), and, without let-up, breached the Moselle River in two places to crumble last Nazi defenses west of the Rhine (5). Ten days after crossing the Moselle, Patton's infantrymen paddled across the Rhine (6) in rubber boats, justifying German claims that Patton and his rampaging army are the most feared, most unpredictable of Allied forces.

Youngsville Eastern Star Held Installation Dinner at Pittsfield

Youngsville, March 27—An installation dinner of Youngsville Chapter of the Eastern Star was held at 6 p. m. Friday, March 23rd with over one hundred guests present. The tables were lovely with Easter decorations in lavender and yellow. These colors were repeated in the programs and also in the small potted plants used for favors for each guest.

Mrs. Mildred Clark acted as Toastmaster of the evening. She first introduced Mr. Wyllis Johnson, who sang "Prayer Perfect" as the grace before the dinner. Mr. Johnson also sang several numbers during the dinner hour being accompanied at the piano by his wife.

During the dinner the following honored guests were introduced by Mrs. Clark and presented flowers: Mrs. Mildred Hutchinson, installing officer of Hydetown; Mrs. Cloie Mead, Worthy Matron; Carl E. Anderson, Worthy Patron; Mrs. Helen Johnson, Worthy Matron, elect. A bit of fun at the dinner table was occasion by a school quiz conducted by Toastmaster Mrs. Clark. The committee responsible for the dinner program and all decorations were Frances Cable, chairman, Hazel Johnson, Louise Baker, Leila Craft, Evelyn Crull, Carrie Crull, Audrey Irwin, Della Hull, Violet Pollard, Gladys Danielson.

Two-a-Day Is Bomb Record Of Lt. Burns

Spearheading attacks of the U. S. 1st and 9th Armies, B-26 Marauder groups of the Ninth Air Force are sometimes running two missions a day. That means about eight hours of flying for pilots who find themselves on successive loading lists.
A recent double-header by the 344th Bombardment Group saw 1st Lt. Donald C. Burns, pilot of Sheffield, participate in both missions—with just time enough between them to “grab a cup of coffee and a sandwich.”
The first mission took the busy flier to bomb a communications center at Stadt Meckenheim, Germany. In the afternoon the airman bombed an ordnance dump at Weisbaden, Germany. Both attacks paced the Allied infantry forces then routing the Germans on the west bank of the Rhine.
Lt. Burns is the son of Mrs. Esther E. Burns, of Sheffield.

Raymond Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Anderson, 10 North Marion street, arrived home this morning from Florida, where he has been taking radio training. He has just been promoted to petty officer third class.

The prelude will be played by Miss Jean White and the response to the call to worship will be given by members of the Youth Fellowship. A hymn will be followed by the Litany of Praise, with response by the congregation, and the Scripture lesson. Elton Barton will direct the choir and Miss Roberta Lodge will be pianist for a special number, "The First Day of the Week". The affirmation of faith will be given in unison. "The Holy City" will be played by Mrs. Marjorie Hendrickson as a violin solo for the offertory. Miss Lodge accompanying. Another hymn will be followed by "Today Is Easter" by Mrs. Carolyn Reynolds. The story, "The Beauty of the Lily" is to be given by Miss Audrey Smith and the service will close with a hymn, the benediction and postlude played by Miss White.

At the 11 a. m. Methodist service, there will be a special Easter message and reception of adults into membership. A beautiful 7 a. m. sunrise service is to be held in Saron Lutheran church and an Easter program will be given by the Sunday school at 10 a. m. in the same church.

Everything Is
New For Local
Minstrel Show

New faces, new music, new specialty numbers, new jokes, new stage sets, and a wholly new production throughout will characterize the North Warren Minstrels of 1945. It was stated today by Russell F. Dietsch, the director.

The show has been in rehearsal for some time in preparation for presentation to the public April 17 and 18.

For the present at least, it has been requested that a detailed announcement of the many superb surprises which will feature this year's performance be withheld. But it can be said that there's a special treat in store for those who never miss this annual event; and that those who have not had an opportunity to witness previous years' performances will want to plan on seeing this year's show without fail.

As usual, the production is sponsored by the North Warren Civic Club.

Senate Gives
Chapman Can
Bill Approval

Tuesday the Pennsylvania State Senate gave approval to the Chapman bill carrying an appropriation of $100,000 for the establishment of a cancer research laboratory in this state. The bill now goes to the House of Representatives and it is expected to readily pass there.

The bill introduced by State Senator LeRoy Chapman, of this city, is hailed over the state by organizations and individuals as a great step in extending aid to the people of the state. It is expected that Federal aid will also be given as Surgeon General George Parran has been greatly interested in the project.

It is anticipated also that there will be established over the state a series of cancer clinics where residents of the state can secure examinations and treatment at a minimum price or free if the residents are unable to pay for the service.

Police Warn Of Danger Of Street Play

During the past few days scores of boys throughout the city have been indulging their urge for baseball by playing in the streets. There is great danger of being hit with an auto while intense on the play and the police have warned of the dangers attendant. Yesterday officers were called upon to halt many ball games on streets.

If the warnings given are not heeded arrests will follow.

Officers are also picking up many dogs running loose and several have been disposed of during the past few days.

A fight between two gangs of boys on Plum and Euclid streets was broken up last evening by the officers and another group of lads playing at the rear of the McClintock school were warned to desist in bothering the residents of the vicinity.

Phils' Hamner Brother Act To Stump Scribes; One Plays Shortstop, the Other Second

By JACK HAND
Wilmington, Del., March 28.—(P)—Pitts' baseball scribes and printers when the Hamner brother act takes over as the second base combination for the Philadelphia Phillies on opening day.

Brother W. Garvin, aged 21, will be seeing his first major league experience but it will be old stuff for 17-year-old brother Granville W. who hopped off the sandlots to play 21 games with the Phils last fall. Over on first base will be Jimmy Fox, who was playing before either Hamner was born.

Garvin is the second baseman and Granville the shortstop, although they reversed the positions when they played together as youngsters at Benedictine High School at Richmond, Va. Both give much credit to the Rev. Daniel Baran, their first coach, for starting them off on the right foot.

It's all quite amazing to the slim Virginia lads who are trying hard to live up their advance billing. Granville hit .247 in those 21 games with the Phils and Garvin compiled a .284 mark for Richmond in the Class B Piedmont League.

Garvin originally was slated to be the regular third baseman with the Itsy Mott-Fred Daniels duo from Utica around second. With Daniels out for eight weeks recovering from an operation, Mott was moved over to third and one of the first brother double play acts of its chance.

Manager Freddy Fitzsimmons has solved the name problem quite simply. "I asked the older one what the 'W' before Garvin stood for and he told me Wesley. He's Wes to me and the kid is Ham," said Fitz, beaming at the solution.

When Ben Chapman went up to Brooklyn last summer after managing the Richmond team he told them about the kid shortstop, Granville, who was a free agent. The Dodgers had him at Ebbets Field for a trial and the Yankees looked him over at Norfolk, but the youngster reasoned he had a better chance to stick with the Phils.

This prompted brother Garvin to look around. Richmond has sold him to the New York Giants, but he began to wonder about the bonus Garvin received. Looking through the records it developed Granville had signed the first Richmond contract as a minor and Judge W. G. Brahm cut him loose. He signed with the Phils for the same bonus his kid brother got.

Experienced baseball men like the action of Garvin around second but prefer to withhold judgment on the shortstop until the season starts. Granville, listed at a liberal 160 pounds on the roster, may find it difficult to stand up under the pressure of every day big league ball.

Behind the Lines

Having taken care of Al Wolfe, Fritz Kennett, and the rest of the dyed-in-the-wool color artists, the corner turns with the rest to the 1945 baseball season, the fourth under wartime conditions. Baseball followers can give the government a pat on the back for the green light and continue to follow favorites as in the past. I don't know why it's so, but usually most fans sort of stick to the closest to home clubs, Pittsburgh in the National, Buffalo in the International, and Jamestown in the PONY League.

As for the American, the Yanks have been the favored nine—at least until last year.

NFO Fems Are Crowned City League Best

The National Forge sextet put an abrupt end to the Struthers Wells girl cagers' bid for supremacy in the City YWCA loop last night by decisioning the Wells girls, 25-21, to clinch the Girls' League city championship.

The Forge crew won the first of the three-game play-off series, but dropped the second by a one-point margin. Having won last night's battle, the Forgers can record a successful season. This is the first year in which a girls' league has been operating and has ended very successfully.

In the opening quarter of the game, the situation looked as if Struthers were going to repeat their Friday night stunt and walk off with the victory and the championship. They held an 11-6 first quarter lead, and although the Forgers rallied in the second stanza, the Struthers feds managed to hold a 16-13 lead at intermission.

Gertrude Joy paced Struthers in the first two periods, racking up a game total of 13. Rowland and Moll accounted for the remainder of the losers' points, Rowland collecting 5 and Moll 3.

The Forge continued to elude the Struthers lead in the third stanza with a well-distributed scoring set-up. Spencer had a game total of 10, with Black, Sheffer, and Hornor annexing 6, 5 and 4, respectively, for the Irvinets.

When the third quarter whistle sounded, the Forge had battled to within one point of the leading Struthers outfit, 19-18. The Irvine aggregation emerged strong in the final period to score 7 markers while holding the Wells girls to 2, the game ending with Forge on top, 25-21. Elizabeth Sheetz and Bob Jewell officiated. In the preliminary, Thomas Coupling downed Sylvania 1, 41-33. The banquet will be held on April 11. The league will also hold a skating party on April 17.

My first, and almost unbelievable, experience with the familiar "Ouija board" came Monday night. Well, sir, the first question I popped to the supposed answer was, "Who's going to take the pennant?" Then my statement was revised until it looked like this, "Who's going to win the National League flag?" "Ouija" began its wanderings and after a long and strenuous journey spelled out the name Pittsburgh. "I'm sold," I says, so then on I have been questioning the authenticity of the little board.

You can bet on the Pirates, that is if you think what "Ouija" said was truthful. The trend of the Pirates up until last season was certainly not on the upgrade, but last year's showing brightened the spark, and no matter how the Bucs start off the season, they're going to come out on top—at least of the National. What is to be said about the American is still being circulated throughout the corner's mind, but it's certainly not the boys up New York state way. Look to the west, maybe St. Louis again—or maybe even Detroit.

"Al Wolfe was the best basketball player Warren High School ever had," says Kennett. "You're crazy," says I. "He may have been the best in his day, but his day is not this day."

A matter of eighteen days remains before that opening day, the gathered fishermen. So, get out the rod, greasy. The regular take care of the line, add a few new flies to the collection, patch the reel, and be off on April 15.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their brother—and start building, not just thinking, of an athletic stadium. It's getting monotonous just talking and thinking about it. Nothing should stand in the way of citizens, especially if the project were in memory of the World War II fighting men.

17 teams are entered in the Elks tournament which opens next Monday night. During the week, singles and doubles events will be rolled.

Seventeen teams are entered in the annual tournament that will get under way at the Elks alleys Monday evening when the Tasty Bakery and Times Square will meet on 1-2 while the South Side Market and Meads will be clashing on the 3-4 alleys. The schedule for the team matches the remainder of the week follows:

Wednesday—Keystones vs. Darlings, 1-2; Soda Mineral vs. Style Shop, 3-4.

Thursday—Struthers vs. Harvey-Carey, 1-2; Maders vs. Penn Furnace, 3-4.

Friday—Kirbergers vs. Simonsens, 1-2; Turners vs. National Forge, 3-4.

Sunday—Warren Bakery, unopposed.

All evening matches will start at seven o'clock sharp, and there will be no early bowling. The Sunday match will get under way at 3:30. The schedule for the doubles and singles will be printed at a later date, according to Coach Ralph Ruggaber, secretary of the league.

Pymatuning Bill Is Opposed In State Senate

The Pymatuning Lake motorboat bill, which is before the state Senate and causing considerable debate throughout Pennsylvania and Ohio, came to the surface yesterday with two prime purposes cited for rejection of the bill.

John M. Phillips, of Pittsburgh and internationally known conservationist and father of Pennsylvania's game laws, presented to the Senate two reasons why the bill should be rejected: (1) Since the lake was "resigned to provide a steady flow of water into the Shenango river for cities and industries below, the water from the reservoir escapes through an underflow. Obviously such oil slick would accrue from widespread use of motors would have no opportunity to run off and would continue to lie on the surface of the water; (2) The greatest danger would be from noise of the motorboats frightening off the wild water fowl and all wild life, making the hunters' refuge useless.

DePaul and Aggies Vie For Mythical Cage Honors

New York, March 28.—(P)—It will be DePaul vs. the Oklahoma Aggies and 6 foot 9 George Mikan vs. Bob Kurland for the mythical national collegiate basketball championship as the cage season ends at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The Aggies won the right to battle for the generally recognized national title by whipping New York University, 49 to 45, for the NCAA championship before 18,034 at the Garden last night. DePaul previously had won the Garden National Invitation Tourney by beating Bowling Green of Ohio, 71-54.

The game will be the second between the two teams, DePaul having won a 48-46 triumph over the Aggies in Chicago during the regular season. In a preliminary, Bowling Green meets NYU.

Hundreds of B-29 Superfortresses have launched full-scale incendiary raids on Tokyo, Nagoya, Osaka and Kobe in recent days. These saturation raids, many of them made with the new jellied-gasoline M-69 incendiary bombs, have been even more effective than precision attacks with explosive bombs.

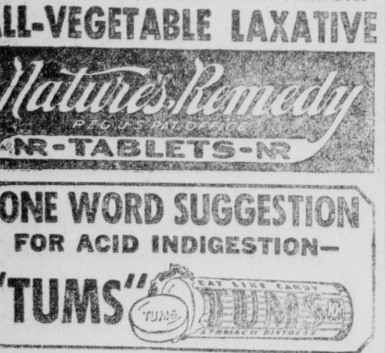

Because of the wide decentralization of industry in Japan, saturation raids have been necessary in order to hit thousands of little shops. Most of these shops are located in the centers of Japan's leading cities.

Pfc. Berdine Plays a Part In Invasions

News of the past few days added importance and interest to the following special dispatch received from headquarters for the First Allied Airborne Army:

Pfc. Ray J. Berdine, son of Mrs. Ella Mae Berdine, has been in the Army Air Force since March, 1943, and has been serving in England for almost a year and a half.

He is a member of a Service Squadron, which is a part of Service Wing, commanded by Col. Franklin S. Henley. The job of Service Wing is keeping the planes and gliders of the U. S. Troop Carrier Forces, headed by Major Gen. Paul L. Williams, in operation.

Pfc. Berdine is the driver of one of the giant Air Force refueling units which carry high-octane gasoline for planes of the organization with which the Service Squadron operates.

He attended Warren High School as did his brother, Pvt. John J. Berdine, who has been an MP for the past two and one-half years.

Tidioute Lad Is Back Again

Pvt. Clifford D. Mickle, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Mickle, of Tidioute, who arrived last week by plane from England, has been sent to a hospital for further treatment of wounds received in Germany. He wears the Purple Heart and has two campaign stars.

He made a short trip overseas, arriving in France in January, and going by the famous French box-cars marked "40 men or 8 horses" to Belgium. He was in the battle in Germany just across from the Siegfried Line and in a little village, under attack, he was wounded.

Mickle was on guard for his buddy who was digging a foxhole. A mortar shell dropped close by and hit him in five places. First aid men reached him immediately and cared for him for 48 hours until he could be taken out. Since that day he has been in Paris, England and Scotland.

He says he's really moved around a lot on a kind of United Nations trip, on an American boat first, then on an English train, a French train and then back through England and Scotland into the United States—all in less than three months.

He was in the Mediterranean Area for 20 months and was home for a month's leave in December before reporting to his new assignment.

From headquarters of the Fifth Army in Italy comes announcement that Cpl. George E. Bogert, son of Mrs. Bertha J. Bogert, Columbus, is being promoted to staff sergeant on the Fifth Army front. He is a squad leader with the 85th Mountain Infantry Regiment of the 10th "Mountaineer" Division.

LT. JANE ARMY NURSE GETS A LETTER

Dear Jane, At our last Red Cross meeting one of the new members started a new unit when she asked what good her small amount of cash would do. We quickly informed her that only one tablespoon a day from each household would insure our men all the medicines and all the munitions necessary to keep us on the road to victory. Best Regards, Julia. P.S. She now saves every drop.

New Crossing Of Oder
River Is Reported

Tet was taken yesterday by Tolbukhin's troops in the push menacing Vienna.

A Russian communique broadcast by Moscow indicated resistance was crumbling all the way from the Danube on the north to the shores of Lake Balaton on the south.

The war bulletin, which announced the capture of Tet, also reported the fall of Kiser in an outflanking threat to the vital Danube bastion of Komarom (Komárom), 40 miles northwest of Budapest, and the communications center of Győr, farther west.

Acis, six miles southwest of Komarom and 16 northeast of Győr, fell, too, placing in peril German forces attempting to bar the Danube valley invasion route westward to Bratislava and Vienna.

Seizure of Janosvar, a seven-way road junction on the canalized Marcal river, breached the Austrian capital's first natural defense line. This took the Russians within 80 miles of Graz, vital industrial city in the Austrian Alps, and only 26½ miles southeast of Szombathely, stronghold in Vienna's southeastern defenses.

At the same time, Soviet forces cleaned up along the west bank of Lake Balaton in a 14-mile advance that carried to the road center of Tapolca, leaving only 12 miles to go to hold the entire lake's western shoreline.

PTA Will Ask Improvements At East Street

The March meeting of East St. PTA had an attendance of 80 members, with a lovely plant awarded to the second grade room taught by Mrs. Berg.

Dr. Wayne Helmreich, chairman of the lighting committee, reported on the results of his committee's investigation and the urgent need for better lighting facilities in the school. Mrs. Helen Culbertson, chairman of the school improvements committee, gave a report on the work done by her group and read a resolution to be offered to the school board at its next meeting. This resolution states the need for better illumination as well as toilet repairs and other conditions which demand attention.

Mrs. Martha Callenberg read a letter from the Fred Gertsch Company, asking for second hand musical instruments to be sent to the company in order that the instruments can be reconditioned and sent to the men in the service. Also, announcement was made of the April meeting, at which time Dr. William Ball will address the members on the subject of eye care for school children.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Dr. E. S. Briggs, county medical supervisor, gave a very informative talk on the work done by the school health unit of Warren county. Last year, 2800 children were examined and 242 visits made by this group. Any defects found are reported to the parents and particular attention is paid to the immunization of children against infectious diseases. In several cases, vaccination was furnished by the health unit without charge. The improvement of the general health of the Warren school child in the past several years is the gratifying result of the efforts made by this organization.

A general discussion was held at the close of the meeting and Dr. Briggs answered many questions concerning his work with the school children.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Time is catching up with the young fellows who marched out for the Spanish-American War. That was a long time ago and the boys in blue who went forth to charge up San Juan Hill and die of eating bully beef are now grey and somewhat bent. Bill Berry, who was in the regular army at the time, left today for Aspinwall where he will enter the hospital for veterans. Bill has been there before but the need for further hospitalization has been felt and he will spend an indefinite period. Aspinwall hospital is located high on a hillside above Aspinwall and has been visited by members of the Warren men during the past few years. . . . Augie Karlson is rallying his cribbage players for the match this evening at the Elks Club with the Moose team. The match will be the final one in the series being played by the clubmen. The Moose have the championship of the city clinched, although there is some talk that a series of matches may be played between the Elks and Moose. . . . Never in the history of the staid old town has there been so much brush and rubbish from trees of the town piled along the curb as at present. The storm of last week took a heavy toll of the trees and shrubs and over the town hundreds of trees were torn and damaged by the weight of snow and ice. Borough employees are hauling away load after load of the debris.

John Rosequist, back from a long stay across the water with U. S. forces, is happy to be home. He had three desires when he arrived and has fulfilled 'em all. He wanted to have a "hot dog with everything on it" at the Texas Lunch; to look at legs of American girls with trim stockings on; and to see a lot of chubby babies. . . . When circuses were common, one of the features was always a trained seal act, when the seals played the "Star Spangled Banner" on trumpets and did other stunts. In between stunts the trainer always tossed fish to the seals. Most of the seal acts were trained by Capt. John Tieber, of Tonawanda, N. Y. He has just passed away at the age of 86. Capt. Tieber had the "sea lion capital" at Tonawanda. Doug Kroft was raised near the home of Capt. Tieber and when a small boy played around the Tieber menage and aided in "training the seals" from a vantage point where he could see Tieber at work.

Elks Bow In Defeat After Cribbage Bout

The final game in the Round Robin Tournament played by the cribbage experts of the Elks, Moose and Veterans of Foreign Wars was played last evening at the Elks Club. The final score was 65 to 45. Rudolph and Brown for the Moose were high scorers with 14 wins and 4 losses while for the Elks Karlson and Ostergard won 11 and lost 7.

Following the play a delicious lunch was served to the conquering herd by the vanquished.

The final standing showed the Moose to have won four and lost none; the Elks won one and lost three as did the Veterans.

Some talk is being indulged in relative to the Moose team playing an All Star Combination composed of the best players in the Elks and the Vets teams but due to the lateness of the season no decision has been reached as yet.

Dear Sir:

Have been reading with much amusement and no little apprehension your accounts of Warren's rapid shrinkage.

If such beliefs are true this news should be welcome to all Warrenites for until the ration board gets wise it shouldn't take as much of our precious rationed gasoline to drive between home and work.

However, to our dismay, we find just the opposite true. Every week it seems to take more and more gas to drive this same route. Can you explain why?

Another Bewildered Citizen.
P. S.—If Warren is actually shrinking why aren't our property taxes decreased, since the property valuation must certainly be less?

Burgess Announces a Paper Holiday For Month of April

Burgess R. W. Steber this morning announced the inauguration of a Paper Holiday for the months of April and May, possibly to be continued for the duration of the war. This action is in accordance with a call by Governor Edward Martin for a two months' period during which "All patriotic citizens of this commonwealth are asked to conserve paper of all kinds, to carry merchandise unwrapped, and to save and turn in to local salvage collections all newspapers, magazines, bags, wrapping paper, cartons, boxes, cereal and cigarette containers, and clean waste basket paper of every kind for the war salvage program."

Burgess Steber requested all Warren merchants to wrap only such packages as are necessary for sanitary and protective purposes; and all shoppers to take baskets and bags along with them so that unwrapped articles may be placed in them. W. T. Corbett, chairman of the County Salvage Committee, stated that this Paper Holiday is one of the most important events on the salvage calendar for the year 1945.

Pennsylvania is the first state to declare a state-wide Paper Holiday. A critical shortage of paper exists, and every scrap is needed for the manufacture of thousands of war articles, including containers for blood plasma, drugs, food, ammunition for the overseas forces. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania itself has conserved more than one thousand tons of paper.

With reference to other salvage matters, W. T. Corbett requested that Warren County citizens also continue to save every scrap of paper in their homes, and to continue to save and process tin cans. There will be a tin can collection in May. The paper collection will continue through the county schools, and in Warren Borough and Youngville another curb pickup will be made early in May. Metal scrap is needed again, and there will be a collection soon. Waste fats are still high on the list of salvage requirements.

Mr. Corbett also announced that a complete list of the paper collections by county schools will be published as soon as all the paper is in.

FIRST SURGES SIXTY MILES BEYOND RHINE

Reds Hammer Huge Pincers on Czechoslovakia

THREE AMERICAN ARMIES ARE LINKED IN SOLID FRONT AS SEVENTH DRIVES TO THE MAIN

Security Regulations Cloak Swift Progress of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' Tanks Exploiting One of Greatest Offensives of War

BRITISH BURST TOWARD WESTPHALIAN CAPITAL

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press War Editor

A U. S. Third Army power drive broke through to Gemunden, 218 miles southwest of Berlin and 45 miles east of Frankfurt, today, the Germans said, and to the north mighty U. S. First Army tank forces surged at least 60 miles beyond the broken Nazi Rhine line to within 225 miles of the rubbled German capital.

The U. S. First, Third and Seventh armies were linked east of the Rhine in a solid, surging front as the Seventh cut through from its Rhine bridgehead north of Worms to the Main river, 35 miles away, against virtually no opposition from the routed enemy. The Third Army has joined the First north of the Main.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' tanks, exploiting one of the greatest tank dashes of the war, may be well beyond last reported positions as security regulations cloak his swift progress east of the Remagen bridgehead area.

In the north, the British, 25 miles beyond the Rhine, were bursting toward Muenster, Westphalian capital, at last reports 32 miles away.

At a speed which a field report said was "limited only by the ability to pour forces through the bridgehead to exploit the collapse of enemy resistance."

The Third Army's German-reported advance placed it within 110 miles of Czechoslovakia. All along the front the Americans were advancing almost at will.

Gen. Hodges was using the greatest tank over yet unleashed in the west. One column spearheaded another eight miles beyond Weizlar, and another shoved southward, on the verge of a new linkup of the First with Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army, this one in the Frankfurt area. Such a link would close a large sack on German remnants. Patton's men already have won the Frankfurt airport, second largest in Germany.

Security news lags hid the full extent of the two armies' advances, but the Germans said the great cities of Nuremberg, Wuerzburg and Fulda were menaced by the Third Army, little more than 100 miles from Czechoslovakia. Russian forces surging westward through broken German lines, fought within 25 miles of the Austrian border, Vienna is 38 miles from the frontier. Tet was captured in the push across the Hungarian tableland, and the Soviet communists said Nazi resistance was crumbling all the way from the Danube south to Lake Balaton. In the north Red army units mopped up in wrecked Danzig and battled grimly in the nearby Baltic port of Gdynia.

Some 950 U. S. Flying Fortresses with 350 fighters spearheaded the day's aerial onslaught, attacking Hannover and also hitting Berlin, which had been raided by the RAF in darkness for the 36th consecutive night. A German broadcast said the Reich capital would be evacuated of all but needed persons.

The First Army had cracked the Dill river line, where the Nazis apparently had hoped to make an initial stand east of the Rhine. Red-eyed from lack of sleep, First Army tankmen captured Hebern on the Dill and pushed on during the night. Hodges had at least five separate armored columns in his drive.

The First linkup with the Third Army was in the Coblenz area after Hodges' men had captured the fortress of Ehrenbreitstein. Meanwhile, Patton's rampaging Fourth Armored Division was fighting inside Hanau, ten miles east of Frankfurt, and the Germans said Third Army tanks were in Lohr, 25 miles farther east, and in Garmisch, 25 miles farther east, and in 168 spectators lost their lives.

Greatest Show On Earth Hits Road

Sarasota, Fla., March 28.—(AP)—The "greatest show on earth" is on the road—two red and gold trains loaded with lions and tigers and acrobats and aerialists.

The show has its grand opening in Madison Square Garden in New York April 4, and the trains steamed out from winter quarters here yesterday.

But President Robert Ringling of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus says the show can't go on tour after the New York engagement unless six key officials under prison sentences continue on the job.

The officials were sentenced to prison for involuntary manslaughter in connection with the Hartford, Conn., fire last July 6 in which 168 spectators lost their lives.

Romanian Says Hitler and Aides Will Flee To Japan

By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, March 28.—(AP)—A Romanian diplomat en route home from Tokyo asserted today that the Japanese firmly expect Adolf Hitler, Heinrich Himmler and Benito Mussolini to seek refuge in Japan "almost any time" now that Germany's cause seems hopeless.

"The fact is, they've been expecting them for a long time," declared the diplomat, Victor Gutulesco, a former member of the Romanian embassy staff in Tokyo who has just arrived in Moscow.

Gutulesco, who traveled through Manchuria on his way here, said he had found an unmistakable spirit of defeat prevailing everywhere among the Japanese. Although the press and radio are carrying on an intensive campaign to convince the people that they will win the war, Gutulesco said no single average Japanese with whom he had talked—including some army officers—really believed this.

He added emphatically, however, that anyone who thinks the Japanese are going to quit is gravely mistaken.

Pincers Close on Nazis From Both Fronts

With Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's rampaging army reported on outskirts of Fulda and Wuerzburg and the Reds moving fast on Vienna, the Allied pincers to close off southern Germany are within 240 miles of a junction.

Warren Boy Released From German Prison By Russians

Twice previously notified of bad news concerning their sons in the armed services, Mr. and Mrs. George Hudock, 23 Swiss street, have had a telegram from Adjutant General J. A. Ulio in Washington containing the thrilling news that Sgt. Joseph Hudock has been released from a German prisoner of war camp by the advance of the Russian armies. The message, which came Tuesday, reads:

"I am pleased to inform you report received from the U. S. Military Mission in Moscow states your son, First Sergeant Joseph Hudock, previously reported a prisoner of war, has been released from a German prisoner of war camp. The Department invites submission of a message, not to exceed 25 words, for attempted delivery to him. This should be addressed to Casualty Branch, HGO Room, 2515 Munitions building. Further information will be furnished when received."

First reported missing in action last August, it is understood that Sgt. Hudock has been in the different prison camps, the latest being designated Stalag 3-C. A message received by his parents on August 14 informed them that he had been missing in action in France since July 7. He went overseas in April, 1944, and entered France with his infantry division on D-Day.

His brother, Michael Hudock, has been a German prisoner of war (Turn to Page Nine)

At another hearing Leo T. Crowley, foreign economic administrator, assailed what he said were exaggerated reports of the amount of American food shipped overseas.

Crowley appeared before a closed session of the senate foreign relations committee to advocate a one-year extension of the lend-lease system, releasing copies of his statement to the press.

War Administrator Marvin Jones said civilians can make still more sacrifices as he told a radio audience (MBS) that military, lend-lease and foreign relief calls on America's food ladder will grow. Mr. Roosevelt's statement was followed by demands in congress to know more about the international food situation.

Thus far, however, the senate agriculture committee has devoted the first phases of its inquiry chiefly to an airing of differences between meat packers and the Office of Price Administration.

The house, meanwhile, not content to leave investigation of the (Turn to Page Nine)

Rebellion Flares In Movie Strike

Hollywood, March 28.—(AP)—Open rebellion flared today among the rank and file of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage employees as they voted overwhelmingly to indirectly support the Conference of Studio Unions movie strike by refusing to work outside their own craft.

As insurgents gained control of the meeting, local 44 President Bill Goodwin was voted out of his chair, and as many of the 1,600 members as could crowd into the meeting hall soon had passed resolutions disavowing some of their international leaders.

"Our action was a direct slap at Richard Walsh, IATSE president, and the international vice presidents, Bill Barrett, Roy Brewer and Carl Cooper," said Irwin P. Mentschel, one of the insurgents' leaders. "It was a protest of the rank and file members against the international officers' dictatorial methods."

Phoenixville, March 28.—(AP)—The theory that carbon monoxide poisoning may have caused the death of the three-month-old twin sons of an army major, found dead in separate cribs in their home last Thursday, was advanced today by deputy coroner Cooper T. Bishop, Jr.

Bishop said the theory was based on the report of a consulting pathologist and the fact that analysis of the babies' organs has failed to reveal any cause of death. The twins, sons of Maj. Edwin H. Smith, 2d, of nearby Spring City, who is attached to the Valley Forge General Hospital, were discovered dead in their cribs when their father went to give them their bottles early in the morning. As a result of the pathologist's suggestion that carbon monoxide may have caused the deaths, Bishop said the heating unit—a coal stoker—in the apartment house where the Smiths live will be re-examined. It was examined after the tragedy but no defects were found, he added.

Bishop said analysis of medicine which the twins had been given under doctor's prescription proved it was not harmful.

Quintuplets Born In Washington Are Dead

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—Quintuplet girls were born to a 36-year-old negro woman last night but by 6 a. m. today all had died.

The mother is Mrs. Ada H. Turner, whose husband, Harold, is a $1,320-a-year receiving clerk at the government bureau of standards. Mrs. Turner is the mother of eight other children, the youngest two and one-half months premature, all but one of the quintuplets were born alive.

Cebu Island Cities Found To Be Burning

Manila, March 28.—(AP)—American assault troops, swarming ashore on Cebu island Monday against elaborate beach defenses, swept almost to the outskirts of Cebu city, headquarters reported today, but that busy second city of the Philippines already was flaming and exploding from Japanese demolition.

Shortly after Maj. Gen. William H. Arnold's American division hit the beaches the first big fire appeared in the heart of the city. Then came thunderous explosions and sheets of flame as the Japanese demolition crews went to work as they did in Manila.

Installations at the modern air-drome just northwest of the city, the fine wharf area, the municipal electric plant and the huge coconut refinery just across the harbor on Mactan island—the largest refinery in the Philippines—all were burned and blasted as the Yanks probed into the southern outskirts.

Expectant Mother And Bonds Vanish

Newport, Ky., March 28.—(AP)—Money and bonds also are missing with Mrs. Mildred Peters, 33-year-old, 200-pound brunette, who, her husband said, disappeared two days ago as she was ready to have a baby.

Mrs. Peters left home early Monday, husband Carl told police, in a taxi headed for Booth hospital where she said she had a room reserved for her confinement.

With her she carried $200 to $300 in savings and a small suitcase containing such things that expectant mothers take along to hospitals, Peters said.

The husband, a steel mill foreman, reported "about $200 worth" of war bonds were missing from their hiding place in a mattress. She did not register in at the hospital.

Further mystery developed after Peters, searching for the bonds, said he found under the mattress a letter written by his wife to a "Mrs. Rauh," further unidentified—inquiring about employment.

Paris, March 28.—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower says the German army as a military force on the Western Front "is a whipped army," but that the extent of the Allied drive beyond the Rhine is limited at present by the problem of supply.

In a typically frank discussion with correspondents yesterday upon his return from the front, the Allied supreme commander declared that the tremendous victory achieved in the Rhineland does not bar the enemy from organizing a front at some point "where our maintenance is stretched to the limit."

"I am not writing off this war," he said. "No one knows what the Germans will do in his own country, and he is trying hard."

"My honest opinion," he added, "is that there will be no negotiated unconditional surrender. There will be an imposed unconditional surrender."

"Between the Allies in the west and Russia we will take over Germany. Whether the Germans know it or not, we will know it is unconditional surrender."

Eisenhower said that while pontoon bridges are being thrown across the Rhine in 10 hours, it takes time to build rail bridges, and lack of rail communications will limit the eastward drive for the present.

400,000 SOFT COAL MINERS BALLOT TODAY

With Voting Under Way Government Officials Seek To Avert Shutdown of Operations

URGE PACT EXTENSION

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—Four Hundred thousand soft coal miners across the nation ballot today on whether to strike for John L. Lewis' contract demands, including a $60,000,000 a year union royalty.

As the miners voted, on their own time, at mines or other central places, the government sought to avert a mine shutdown by speeding a new contract before Saturday midnight, the expiration hour, or by extending the present agreement until May 1.

The strike vote, required under the Smith-Connally War Labor Disputes Act because Lewis filed notice of a dispute in the industry, will be taken on this question:

"Do you wish to permit an interruption of war production in your time as a result of this dispute?"

Both Lewis and the operators have indicated a work stoppage would be averted if possible, and an affirmative vote in today's election would not necessarily be followed by a walkout.

Tabulation of the results, expected to be overwhelmingly in favor of striking, probably will be completed by tomorrow morning. Out of the vote, to be conducted by the National Labor Relations Board has been estimated at $300,000.

Labor Secretary Perkins stepped into the bituminous picture personally late yesterday by conferring for two and a half hours with Lewis and the operators.

She said both sides had made brand new proposals, and that she had suggested an overall increase as a starting point. She did not disclose what it was.

The proposal of Interior Secretary Ickes that the present pact be extended at least until May 1—with any wage adjustments to be retroactive—was rejected by the operators. They said they preferred an extension under different terms; that they would agree to continue the present bituminous contract until May 1, and begin paying at once the wage benefits, amounting to $3.06 a week, contained in their counterproposal of March 16. Lewis rejected those counter offers at the time.

The mine leader refused to join the operators in their reply to Ickes and declined a separate answer in advance of today's strike vote.

Tension Mounts At San Quentin Prison

San Quentin, Calif., March 28.—(AP)—Tension mounted in San Quentin prison today, with 750 convicts caged in solitary confinement and eating one meal a day because of their rebellion against lifting of racial barriers at the institution.

Warden Clinton Duffy held an emergency meeting late yesterday to canvass other prison officials for a solution to the problem, but he had to send 100 more inmates to their cells at the night meal.

They refused to go to the mess hall where 477 negroes were being served.

A total of 900 prisoners declined to eat with the negroes.

Problem of Supply Limits Extent of Drive In Germany

Paris, March 28.—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower says the German army as a military force on the Western Front "is a whipped army," but that the extent of the Allied drive beyond the Rhine is limited at present by the problem of supply.

In a typically frank discussion with correspondents yesterday upon his return from the front, the Allied supreme commander declared that the tremendous victory achieved in the Rhineland does not bar the enemy from organizing a front at some point "where our maintenance is stretched to the limit."

"I am not writing off this war," he said. "No one knows what the Germans will do in his own country, and he is trying hard."

"My honest opinion," he added, "is that there will be no negotiated unconditional surrender. There will be an imposed unconditional surrender."

"Between the Allies in the west and Russia we will take over Germany. Whether the Germans know it or not, we will know it is unconditional surrender."

Eisenhower said that while pontoon bridges are being thrown across the Rhine in 10 hours, it takes time to build rail bridges, and lack of rail communications will limit the eastward drive for the present.

Aachen Burgomeister Killed By Assassins

By DON WHITEHEAD
With The U. S. Army, March 27.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Franz Oppenhef, 41-year-old burgomeister of Aachen and first mayor appointed by the Allied military government in a major German city, was assassinated Sunday night, it was announced today.

Oppenhef was shot through the temple at 11:30 p. m., as he stood on the back porch of his home on the outskirts of the city.

Military intelligence officers investigating the case said the motive had not yet been established, and that it had not yet been established officially whether the mayor was killed by Nazis because he had assumed the post of burgomeister under the Americans. It was possible he may have been the victim of a personal enemy.

Other Russian units were clearing out Danzig where the opening shots of this war were fired, and fighting into nearby Gdynia. The German high command reported fierce street combat in both cities.

The third Ukrainian army had slammed through sagging Nazi defenses below the Danube to within 20 miles of Austria and 58 of Vienna yesterday, and the German high command said Marshal Fedor Tolbukhin's men now had thrust to the central Raba river, south of their closest approach to Vienna.

This new advance might have been in the area of Sarvar on the central Raba, 13 miles from the Hungarian stronghold of Szombathely, which is eight miles from the Austrian border on the route to Graz in Austria.

To the north the First and Fourth Ukrainian armies were lunging through German and Polish Silesia toward Czechoslovakia, hitting for the Moravian gap to Prague and Vienna.

This push from Silesia on an 80-mile front had struck to within 14 miles of Moravia-Ostrava, Czechoslovakia's third city.

Dispatches from Moscow said the Red air force was aiding the tremendous Russian drives on a scale seldom if ever before equalled by Soviet planes.

Large Crowd Attends Holy Week Service

At the third noonday Holy Week service in Bethlehem Congregational church today, Rev. Nore Gustafson, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church spoke on the subject "Peter". His remarks were based on Luke 22:54-62 and dealt with the lessons to be learned from the life and fall of Peter.

Adjutant Arthur Brandenburg, of the Salvation Army Corps, read the Scripture lesson today, and Rev. J. C. Wygant, of First Evangelical church, led in prayer. Special prayer was offered for the boys in service and for the speedy termination of the war.

A special musical number was provided by St. Paul's church, Miss Grace Anderson singing "Christ of the Cross", with accompaniment by Mrs. Emil Jacobson, Miss Adelaide Swanson, church organist, played the opening and closing numbers and for the group hymns.

More than 150 persons were in attendance, this number including a sizeable delegation of Kiwanis Club members.

Manpower Bill Facing Final Test In Senate

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today urged quick senate passage of the manpower bill, which would forestall an exodus of workers from war plants.

In a letter which Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) read to the senate as it began consideration of the measure, the president said:

"The manpower situation is still serious. In the days ahead of us there will be great temptation for workers to leave war plants."

"The failure to enact this legislation will make our conduct of the war even more difficult."

"The 167-to-160 margin by which it cleared the house yesterday was a tip-off to the opposition which was developing, particularly among lawmakers with large organized labor groups in their constituencies."

A compromise between the labor and anti-labor bill and the milder, largely voluntary measure which passed the senate, the conference bill provides for a selective labor freeze at the discretion of War Mobilizer James R. NEW CROSSING OF ODER RIVER IS REPORTED

Berlin Declares One Thrust Through Hungary Carried Soviets Within 58 Miles of Vienna

FIGHTING IN GYDNIA

BULLETIN
London, March 28.—(AP)—Russian troops have captured the Baltic fort of Gdynia, Marshal Stalin announced tonight.

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
London, March 28.—(AP)—A German military spokesman indicated today that Russian forces driving up the Danube valley as part of a huge pincers movement on Czechoslovakia and Vienna had crossed the Raba river in Hungary, last water barrier to Austria.

The Raba at some points is a scant 20 miles from the Austrian border.

The spokesman said fighting had broken out at Sarvar, a communications center west of the Raba, and that the focus of the battle had shifted to that place and the large hub of Gyor, 45 miles to the northeast.

A German broadcast declared the Soviets had forced a new crossing of the Oder river northwest of Kuestrin, 38 miles from Berlin. A Moscow dispatch reported the Russian supply system was "working all-out to prepare a spring offensive" on this front closest to the Nazi capital.

Other Russian units were clearing out Danzig where the opening shots of this war were fired, and fighting into nearby Gdynia. The German high command reported fierce street combat in both cities.

County Red Cross Campaign Fund Now Totals $62,387.12

Warren County's Red Cross War Fund Campaign now totals $62,387.12 with final figures yet to be tabulated. It marks one of the most successful war fund campaigns ever held in the history of Warren County, a campaign whose quota was $42,000.

Many communities in northwestern Pennsylvania and in the adjacent states of New York and Ohio are still striving for quotas as the month of March, Red Cross month throughout the country, draws to a close. But, Warren county's whirlwind, five day campaign was a success from the beginning to end.

The break down between the borough and county shows the following:

Borough $45,254.53
County 19,132.12
TOTAL $62,387.12

These figures do not include collections that have been taken in local theatres the past few weeks. Money thus collected is credited to various Red Cross Chapters in the respective counties but is not collected by Chapter agencies.

Cars Crash At Dimes Drive Intersection; In County Is One Injured Over the Goal

Mrs. Stewart Loding, 321 Prospect street, suffered from shock and possible severe injuries to her right arm and shoulder this morning when, following a crash, her car careened into the railing in front of the Warren National Bank. Mrs. Loding, who had suffered a fractured wrist last December, was on her way to the Warren General Hospital.

At Second and Liberty streets, according to police reports, she entered the intersection as Gerald D. Lucas, Sigel, Jefferson county drove south on Liberty street. The cars crashed and the Plymouth sedan driven by Mrs. Loding was swung about to the right. The machine crashed over the curb and into the railing about the driveway leading to Danny Conahan's Barber Shop. Pieces of the iron railing were smashed out and thrown with such violence that the plate glass window in the barber shop was smashed. Glass in the door was also broken and one of the windows in the bank was shattered.

Police were on hand and Mrs. Loding was sent to the Warren General Hospital in the car of Cpl. Arthur Christensen, where X-rays will be taken to ascertain the full extent of her injuries.

The investigation of the police was quickly done and Lucas was taken to the police station where he made a statement. He is employed by the National Forge and Ordnance Company and rooms at the home of Joseph Lucas, Main street, Youngsville. He stated that he was proceeding southward on Liberty street when Mrs. Loding went through the red light and his car struck the Plymouth sedan. He was proceeding slowly, according to his statement, and his car shows little effect of the crash. The Loding car shows marks on the right rear fender where it was hit and the fender is bent to some degree. The hood was also sprung by the impact with the iron railing.

By CURT REISS
(Copyright, 1945, NEA Service, Inc.)
Bernie, Switzerland, March 28.—Don't discount German chances of continuing the war through summer, is the advice given by military observers here. Despite outward appearances that the Nazi military situation is utterly desperate, Allied hopes for a quick end of the war may be exaggerated, observers say.

Basis for the belief that the Germans may hold out for several months is the fact that the Wehrmacht still is larger than Allied countries believe. How many soldiers does Germany have? My sources say 270 divisions. A German division today is made up of 7,000 to 10,000 men. Units which are not counted as belonging to a division—supply troops, artillery, intelligence, aircraft engineers—provide an additional 2800 to 4000 men. Altogether, Germany's regular armed forces are put at three million troops.

The high command supposedly saved most of its troops during the retreat in France and even now during the retreat across the Rhine. Estimates here put losses in regular troops during the French campaign at 50 to 60 divisions. The Allies say that they have taken 900,000 prisoners. The explanation here is that at least a third were not regular fighting troops, but technical units, such as the Todt Organization.

Together with the Volksturm, the German fighting apparatus consists of an estimated 5,000,000 men. But it is readily admitted here that the fighting value of the Volksturm is almost zero. This comes with all information received by me lately from Germany.

Himmler hoped to change the war into a people's war by creat-

Uniformed German woman at right is helping a wounded soldier. This trio was captured on the western front. Most Volksturm troops are ill-trained, ill-equipped and unwilling to fight.

ing the Volksturm, Goebbels spoke in the early fall of a two-and-a-half million Volksturm army, but on November 1 the Volksturm comprised hardly more than a million. Only during the emergency did it increase to two million. The Volksturm has had only sketchy training and insufficient armament.

Weapons of the Volksturm are shut away in school houses, railway stations and industrial plants. They are loaned only for the duration of their training. Only one conclusion is possible—that the Nazis feel safer if the Volksturm is not armed before meeting the enemy.

Reports are unanimous in saying that Himmler's great experiment failed. The Volksturm men do not obey or react quickly to orders as do regular soldiers. The people's army is made up of civilians who are either too old or too young. Many are unfit for service, being partly disabled or suffering from chronic diseases.

On the western front the Volksturm failed completely, as was proved in Eisenhower's communications. It is symptomatic that they took off their armbands once fighting became senseless, simply reverting to normal citizens, just as though they were going home from business. In the east they would have done the same except for their deadly fear of the Russians.

Therefore, everything depends on the regular army of three million. The army still is held together by stringent discipline. Many soldiers feel precisely like the Volksturm, but the habit of obeying commands of officers is stronger than personal feelings.

Morale of the troops has gradually and constantly become worse since Stalingrad. There have been a great number of desertions. From an impeccable source I received news of the ever-growing numbers of executions of soldiers and the ever-growing size of concentration camps for soldiers, into which they are sent for disobedience. These camps are supposed to be the most horrible ones in Germany.

Military observers advise against a hasty conclusion that the Nazis have collapsed. Though it isn't generally known, army morale was in a state of collapse once before. That was when the Germans had to retreat speedily from France. Many units dissolved and tens of thousands of soldiers had only one thought, namely, to get home. That was in September and sources inside Germany say that if the Allies had then risked everything, using the last drop of gasoline and the last bullet, the war might have been over.

This is, of course, speculation. As things were, the situation was saved by the speedy action of Himmler. He formed special SS units, posting them at intercepting stations on a certain line beyond which no soldier must escape. There the fleeing soldiers were reorganized into new battalions and companies and sent back into the fight.

It seems almost impossible that this German army, or what is left of it, may be capable of conducting even a normal defensive warfare, which involves at least occasional tactical offensives.

The surprise of the Rhine crossing at Remagen may have upset the entire German plan. If decisively so, the next few weeks will prove it. The fact that the bridge wasn't blown up can only be explained by sabotage committed by higher officers in the German army. Perhaps knowledge of this fact, which already is spreading within the German army on the right bank of the Rhine, will accelerate deterioration of morale.

Ration Board Has Warning On War Books

Attention of all holders of War Ration Books 3 and 4 is called to the following communication from the local war price and rationing board:

The replacement of War Ration Books in the past three months has been two-thirds higher than any other quarter in the past. It is obvious that the public has not actually started losing books at a faster rate but that people are applying for the replacement of books that were not, in fact, lost, stolen, destroyed or mutilated.

The general public fails to recognize the fact that these books, though in their possession, remain the property of the United States government and are to be used only in the manner and for the purpose authorized by the OPA. Purposes authorized do not include finding a book and keeping it instead of returning it to the local rationing board, and neither do they include making false application for stamps which have become loose and lost.

Out of the hundreds of lost books reported to the local rationing board, not more than 25 have been returned, which means that more than one-third of the population of this county are receiving twice their rightful share.

The local board has wide discretionary power under Procedural Regulations No. 12 for dealing with this problem. As was pointed out in the latest bulletin, inasmuch as the total of applications for these list books has shown a definite increase instead of decrease, it will be necessary that all applications for replacements be investigated to detect the fraudulent cases. This investigation may require the applicant to report loss to the police, make personal appearance at a board meeting and result in having ration held for 30 days.

The board's position is admittedly difficult, since we do not wish to deny ration books to those who have a legitimate reason to receive them. At the same time, however, if the rationing regulations are to have any meaning, it is imperative that we stop issuing books to those who are applying merely to get additional rations.

Quick Relief From Pile Irritation

It brought such quick cooling, soothing, astringent relief that its fame spread throughout the country, and made Peterson's Ointment a favorite in thousands of homes. Ask your druggist for a 35c box of Peterson's Ointment today, or 60c tube with applicator. Money back if you are not delighted with relief.

FALSE PEACE STAMPEDE

While the Allied offensive out of the Rhineland is operating under a partial news blackout for security reasons, despite yesterday's false rumors that hostilities were to cease which threw Warren and the rest of the nation in a helter of excitement, reports continue to give a picture of a fast moving front whose very fluidity bespeaks the extent of the disaster which the Allies are piling onto the Germans.

Obviously we are getting close to the end of the conflict. However, let's take a lesson from yesterday's peace-stampede and not have another premature celebration such as we had in the last war.

As General Eisenhower says, the German force on the Western Front "is a whipped army — but there's "darn tough fighting ahead." That's our cue to take it easy, though we can be happy in the knowledge that things are going so well that Nazidom's complete collapse isn't far off.

What we must recognize is that one can't throw seven Allied armies across one of the world's greatest rivers and expect them to do a non-stop sprint to Berlin or the Russian front like a runner doing a hundred yard dash.

General Ike says that the extent of the Allied thrust beyond the Rhine is limited at present by the problem of supply. The speed of our advance depends heavily on supplies and the build up of the seven armies.

In the meantime may we remind that the first official news of victory in Europe will be received in Warren over The Times-Mirror reliable Associated Press wires, whether it comes during the day or night, and plans have been perfected by the Citizens Committee to inform the community in no unmistakable manner.

PAPER SHORTAGE

The reading public will be fascinated to know that volume three of "Federal Power Commission Reports" has come off the government presses in Washington. It presents the Commission's opinions and decisions from Jan. 1, 1942, to Sept. 30, 1943. It is a stout volume of 1180 pages.

Be sure to save every scrap of salvageable waste paper. Maybe some of it will find its way into "Federal Power Commission Reports, Vol. IV."

LOVE IS NEVER WASTED

"Why was this waste of the ointment made?"—Mark 14:4. Read Mark 14:1-9.

So gratitude gave its most precious possession in one lavish impulse and asked nothing in return. The deed hushed the room, the perfume filled the air and then they murmured, "why this waste?"

Ah, but love and gratitude are never wasted. Amidst our incredible prodigality they are a blessed economy. So much we spend buys only regrets. So much we try to keep is lost. Only the gifts of the heart are permanent. They are treasured in recollection, they brighten shadowed lives, they enrich those who give, and bless those who receive. Beauty is never wasted, though it be only a poppy petal. Goodness is never wasted, though we cannot see its issue. Suffering bravely borne is never wasted nor any sacrifice which gives the last full measure of devotion.

Never, therefore, be afraid to be prodigal in gratitude and tenderness. In the pure impulses of love, in any ministry of beauty or grace or any gift of self to any of God's causes. A divine economy treasures and makes them immortal.

Prayer: O Thou, in Whose keeping what we seek to do is secure, we thank Thee for all those through whose gifts of love we have been healed. For every treasured memory of kindnesses which have brightened our pilgrim way, for every generous deed which has enriched our souls, we bless Thy name. May we withhold no gift in which another may be blessed. His name who gave Himself, Amen.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Add to the congressman to keep your eye on, Rep. Michael J. Mansfield, Democrat of Missoula, Mont. He's just starting his second term. As a lawmaker go, he's young, having just celebrated his 42nd birthday.

Not so very long ago, President Roosevelt called Mansfield to the White House. What he said, in effect, was "Mike, I have had reports on China from the diplomats and the military men. You are acquainted with the Orient. I want you to go out there as my representative and come back and tell Congress and me just what you think about it."

Mansfield came back with renewed faith in the Chinese, but with a full awareness of the problems they face and the problems we have ahead in making them an effective instrument in the war on Japan.

He was peculiarly fitted for this observation and report. Early in 1918, before his fifteenth birthday, Mansfield joined the Navy. Discharged after 10 months, he enlisted in the Army for a year, then served in the Marines from 1920-22, most of the time in China. If there's any other member of Congress who has served in all three branches, I haven't heard of him.

BACK in Missoula and Butte, Mike turned to mining, decided he needed more education than you get out of the eighth grade and started studying up. He studied enough to pass the entrance examinations for the Montana School of Mines and went from there to the state university. By 1933 the lad who had skipped high school was a professor of eastern history at Montana U.

In 1942 Jeannette Rankin, only member of Congress to vote against war after Pearl Harbor, retired, and Mansfield was elected to succeed her.

Mansfield doesn't play follow-the-leader, but the young liberals in the house count him on their side. On occasion he has pointed out that the farmers constitute 23 per cent of the population, yet receive only 7 per cent of the national income. He has championed labor, small business, old age pensions, jobs for veterans and security for the young as well as old.

A LITTLE over two years ago Mansfield was appointed to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, quite an honor for a freshman member. But when Rep. James E. O'Connor of Montana died, Mansfield tossed that honor aside to become a member of the committees on Indian affairs, irrigation and reclamation, and public lands.

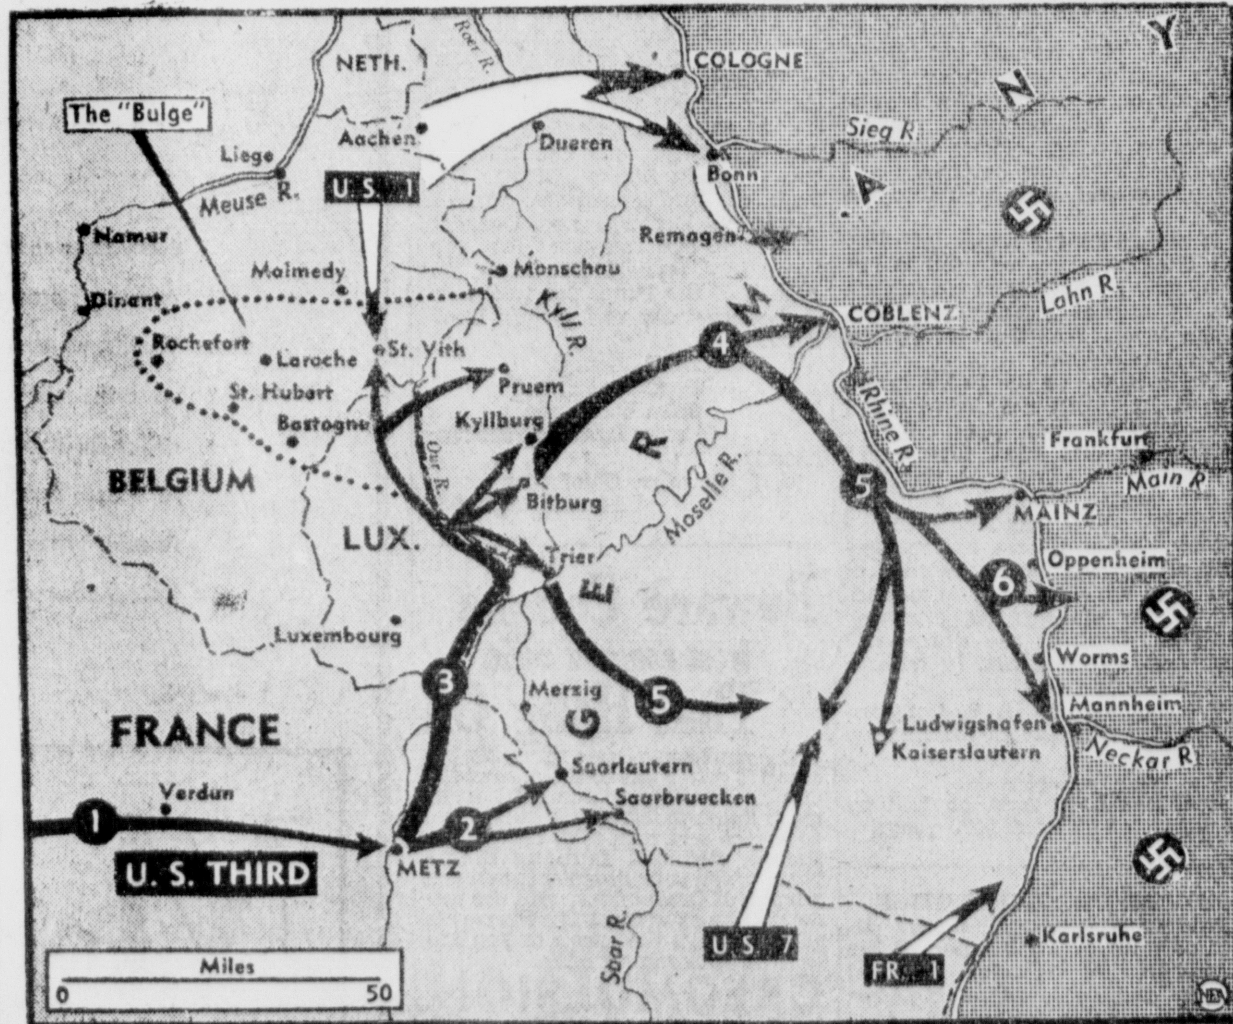

"I represent Montana," he explained simply, "and although I regret leaving foreign affairs, the topics that come up in these other committees are closer to the state of Montana."

He believes strongly in the west. "We are on the brink of a vast new Pacific era," he said recently. "In that era, the United States must join hands with China and other Pacific nations to restore peace and end the rivalries that lead to war."

There already is talk among his associates that he will be governor or senator from Montana some day. His only comment on that is: "I'll just take things as they come."

Rampaging Third Army Chops Up Wehrmacht

Most spectacular of U. S. armies, the inspired Third, led by famed, gun-toting, tough, unpredictable Gen. George Patton Jr., has smashed its way across the Rhine after a sensational series of victories. The map traces the driving, twisting path of the Third. After the brilliant Normandy break-through, Patton's untiring tankmen slashed through France, past World War I battlefields (1), to Metz; assaulted the Saar area (2), but had to let up in their drive last December to streak north (3), where the Germans had made a sudden break-through in Belgium. Meeting with the U. S. First Army at St. Vith to end the Battle of the "Bulge," the Third regrouped for their surprise slash at Coblenz (4), and, without let-up, breached the Moselle River in two places to crumble last Nazi defenses west of the Rhine (5). Ten days after crossing the Moselle, Patton's infantrymen paddled across the Rhine (6) in rubber boats, justifying German claims that Patton and his rampaging army are the most feared, most unpredictable of Allied forces.

"What Can You Spare That They Can Wear?"

"At this stage of the struggle", asserts Henry J. Kaiser, national chairman of the United National Clothing Collection, now in progress, "no one can protest that clothing and feeding little children, the aged, and the homeless in war-devastated countries, is any less imperative than providing materials of combat or planning for the economic future."

In Europe alone 125,000,000 war victims are in desperate need of clothing, shoes and bedding. There is a United National Clothing Collection receiving depot in your neighborhood. See that your spare apparel is delivered there.

Youngsville Eastern Star Held Installation Dinner at Pittsfield

Youngsville, March 27—An installation dinner of Youngsville Chapter of the Eastern Star was held at 6 p. m. Friday, March 23rd with over one hundred guests present. The tables were lovely with Easter decorations in lavender and yellow. These colors were repeated in the programs and also in the small potted plants used for favors for each guest.

Mrs. Mildred Clark acted as Toastmaster of the evening. She first introduced Mr. Wyllis Johnson, who sang "Prayer Perfect" as the grace before the dinner. Mr. Johnson also sang several numbers during the dinner hour being accompanied at the piano by his wife.

During the dinner the following honored guests were introduced by Mrs. Clark and presented flowers: Mrs. Mildred Hutchinson, installing officer of Hydetown; Mrs. Cloe Mead, Worthy Matron; Carl E. Anderson, Worthy Patron; Mrs. Helen Johnson, Worthy Matron, elect. A bit of fun at the dinner table was occasion by a school quizz conducted by Toastmaster Mrs. Clark. Two-a-Day Is Bomb Record Of Lt. Burns

Spearheading attacks of the U. S. 1st and 9th Armies, B-26 Marauder groups of the Ninth Air Force are sometimes running two missions a day. That means about eight hours of flying for pilots who find themselves on successive loading lists.
A recent double-header by the 344th Bombardment Group saw 1st Lt. Donald C. Burns, pilot of Sheffield, participate in both missions—with just time enough between them to "grab a cup of coffee and a sandwich."
The first mission took the busy flier to bomb a communications center at Stadt Meckenheim, Germany. In the afternoon the airman bombed an ordnance dump at Weisbaden, Germany. Both attacks paced the Allied infantry forces then routing the Germans on the west bank of the Rhine.
Lt. Burns is the son of Mrs. Esther E. Burns, of Sheffield.

Raymond Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Anderson, 10 North Marion street, arrived home this morning from Florida, where he has been taking radio training. He has just been promoted to petty officer third class.

HOW SMART ARE YOU?

Wenty smart, if you are one of the thousands of girls and women who have found blessed relief from "monthly grumps" in Chi-Ches-Ters Pills. Of course, they do not correct organic menstrual conditions that require consultation with your doctor. But they do help to relieve the discomfort of functional pains, cramps, headaches and nervousness that frequently accompany the menstrual period. Taken according to directions, preferably two or three days in advance of your time, Chi-Ches-Ters Pills tend to relax the muscular contraction that is often the cause of unnecessary distress. An added iron ingredient helps promote resistance and energy. Before suffering again ask your druggist for Chi-Ches-Ters Pills, and accept no substitute. Caution: Use only as directed.

Phils' Hamner Brother Act To Stump Scribes; One Plays Shortstop, the Other Second

By JACK HAND
Wilmington, Del., March 28.—(P)—Pitts' baseball scribes and printers when the Hamner brother act takes over as the second base combination for the Philadelphia Phillies on opening day.

Brother W. Garvin, aged 21, will be seeing his first major league experience but it will be old stuff for 17-year-old brother Granville W. who hopped off the sandlots to play 21 games with the Phils last fall. Over on first base will be Jimmy Fox, who was playing before either Hamner was born.

Garvin is the second baseman and Granville the shortstop, although they reversed the positions when they played together as youngsters at Benedictine High School at Richmond, Va. Both give much credit to the Rev. Daniel Baran, their first coach, for starting them off on the right foot.

It's all quite amazing to the slim Virginia lads who are trying hard to live up their advance billing. Granville hit .247 in those 21 games with the Phils and Garvin compiled a .284 mark for Richmond in the Class B Piedmont League.

Garvin originally was slated to be the regular third baseman with the Itsy Mott-Fred Daniels duo from Utica around second. With Daniels out for eight weeks recovering from an operation, Mott was moved over to third and one of the first brother double play acts of its chance.

Manager Freddy Fitzsimmons has solved the name problem quite simply. "I asked the older one what the 'W' before Garvin stood for and he told me Wesley. He's Wes to me and the kid is Ham," said Fitz, beaming at the solution.

When Ben Chapman went up to Brooklyn last summer after managing the Richmond team he told them about the kid shortstop, Granville, who was a free agent. The Dodgers had him at Ebbets Field for a trial and the Yankees looked him over at Norfolk, but the youngster reasoned he had a better chance to stick with the Phils.

This prompted brother Garvin to look around. Richmond has sold him to the New York Giants, but he began to wonder about the bonus Garvin received. Looking through the records it developed Granville had signed the first Richmond contract as a minor and Judge W. G. Braham cut him loose. He signed with the Phils for the same bonus his kid brother got.

Experienced baseball men like the action of Garvin around second but prefer to withhold judgment on the shortstop until the season starts. Granville, listed a liberal 160 pounds on the roster, may find it difficult to stand up under the pressure of every day big league ball.

NFO Fems Are Crowned City League Best

The National Forge sextet put an abrupt end to the Struthers Wells girls' bid for supremacy in the City YWCA loop last night by decisively winning the girls' 25-21, to claim the Girls' League city championship.

The Forge crew won the first of the three-game play-off series, but dropped the second by a one-point margin. Having won last night's battle, the Forgers can record a successful season. This is the first year in which a girls' league has been operating and has ended very successfully.

In the opening quarter of the game, the situation looked as if Struthers were going to repeat their Friday night stunt and walk off with the victory and the championship. They held an 11-6 first quarter lead, and although the Forgers rallied in the second stanza, the Struthers fens managed to hold a 10-13 lead at intermission.

Gertrude Joy paced Struthers in the first two periods, racking up a game total of 13. Rowland and Moll accounted for the remainder of the losers' points, Rowland collecting 5 and Moll 3.

The Forge continued to slice the Struthers lead in the third stanza with a well-distributed scoring set-up. Spencer had a game total of 10, with Black, Sheffer, and Hornor annexing 6, 5 and 4, respectively, for the Invinites.

When the third quarter whistle sounded, the Forge had battled to within one point of the leading Struthers outfit, 19-18. The Irvine aggregation emerged strong in the final period to score 7 markers while holding the Wells girls to 2, the game ending with Forge on top, 25-21. Elizabeth Sheetz and Bob Jewell officiated. In the preliminary, Thomas Coupling downed Sylvania I, 41-33. The banquet will be held on April 11. The league will also hold a skating party on April 17.

Behind the Lines

Having taken care of Al Wolfe, Fritz Kennett, and the rest of the dyed-in-the-wool color artists, the corner turns with the rest to the 1945 baseball season, the fourth under wartime conditions. Baseball followers can give the government a pat on the back for the green light and continue to follow favorites as in the past. I don't know why it's so, but usually most fans sort of stick to the closest to home clubs, Pittsburgh in the National, Buffalo in the International, and Jamestown in the PONY League. As for the American, the Yanks have been the favored nine—at least until last year.

My first, and almost unbelievable, experience with the familiar "Ouija board" came Monday night. Well, sir, the first question I popped to the supposed answer was, "Who's going to take the pennant?" Then my statement was revised until it looked like this, "Who's going to win the National League flag?" "Ouija" began its wanderings and after a long and strenuous journey spelled out the name Pittsburgh. "I'm sold," I said, so from then on I have been questioning the authenticity of the little board.

You can bet on the Pirates, that is if you think what "Ouija" said was truthful. The trend of the Pirates up until last season was certainly not on the upgrade, but last year's showing brightened the spark, and no matter how the Bucs start off the season, they're going to come out on top—at least of the National. What is to be said about the American is still being circulated throughout the corner's mind, but it's certainly not the boys up New York state way. Look to the west, maybe St. Louis again—or maybe even Detroit.

"Al Wolfe was the best basketball player Warren High School ever had," says Kennett. "You're crazy," says I. "He may have been the best in his day, but his day is not this day."

A matter of eighteen days remains before the opening day, fly-feathered fishermen. So, get out the rod, grease up the reel, take care of the line, add a few new flies to the collection, patch the creel, and be off on April 15.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their brother—and start building, not just thinking, of an athletic stadium. It's getting monotonous just talking and thinking about it. Nothing should stand in the way of citizens, especially if the project were in memory of the World War II fighting men.

Pymatuning Bill Is Opposed In State Senate

The Pymatuning Lake motorboat bill, which is before the state Senate and causing considerable debate throughout Pennsylvania and Ohio, came to the surface yesterday with two prime purposes cited for rejection of the bill.

John M. Phillips, of Pittsburgh and internationally known conservationist and father of Pennsylvania's game laws, presented to the Senate two reasons why the bill should be rejected: (1) Since the lake was "resigned to provide a steady flow of water into the Shenango river for cities and industries below, the water from the reservoir escapes through an underflow. Obviously such oil slick would accrue from widespread use of motors would have no opportunity to run off and would continue to lie on the surface of the water; (2) The greatest danger would be from noise of the motorboats frightening off the wild water fowl and all wild life, making the hunters' refuge useless.

Residents from Warren County are very much against the proposed allowance of motorboats on the lake. However, some residents from the lake area, are in favor of the bill because they feel that the area is a recreational area and should be permitted to have recreational facilities.

DePaul and Aggies Vie For Mythical Cage Honors

By TED MEIER

New York, March 28.—(P)—It will be DePaul vs. the Oklahoma Aggies and 6 foot 9 George Mikan vs. Bob Kurland for the mythical national collegiate basketball championship as the cage season ends at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The Aggies won the right to battle for the generally recognized national title by whipping New York University, 49 to 45, for the NCAA championship before 18,034 at the Garden last night. DePaul previously had won the Garden National Invitation Tourney by beating Bowling Green of Ohio, 71-54.

The game will be the second between the two teams, DePaul having won a 48-46 triumph over the Aggies in Chicago during the regular season. In a preliminary, Bowling Green meets NYU.

SMOKE BLOTS OUT RISING SUN

By NEA Service

Hundreds of B-29 Superfortresses have launched full-scale incendiary raids on Tokyo, Nagoya, Osaka and Kobe in recent days. These saturation raids, many of them made with the new jellied-gasoline M-69 incendiary bombs, have been even more effective than precision attacks with explosive bombs.

Because of the wide decentralization of industry in Japan, saturation raids have been necessary in order to hit thousands of little shops. Most of these shops are located in the centers of Japan's leading cities.

The M-69 looks like a piece of hexagonal pipe. Cut off square at the ends, it has no fins, receiving its stability from cloth streamers. Streamers slow the fall of the bombs to a speed which gives them power to pierce a roof without damaging the internal mechanism. Each bomb carries 2 1/2 pounds of jellied gasoline, loaded into a cheesecloth sack (see photo at upper left). The sack is smashed on impact, hurling the ignited "gel gas" against a structure as much as 100 feet away. Since walls in Japan are usually combustible, even bombs that do not score direct hits may start fires.

Individual incendiaries are placed in large housings, each of which encases a cluster of 60 bombs. On the first lap of its trip to Japan, the bomb cluster is loaded into a B-29 bomb-bay (see upper right photo). Fusing mechanisms are attached to the 600-pound aimable clusters, and the huge Superfortresses are ready for their raids.

Once they reach their target, bombardiers rain their incendiary bombs down on Japan. The individual bombs fall free from their larger housings (see lower left photo). Each of the 60 bombs scatters sticky globes of burning gasoline.

Intense fire power of the bombs has proven so effective that structures of the type common in Japan can be reduced in a few minutes. Photo at lower right shows burned-out and blackened buildings in Tokyo following an incendiary raid.

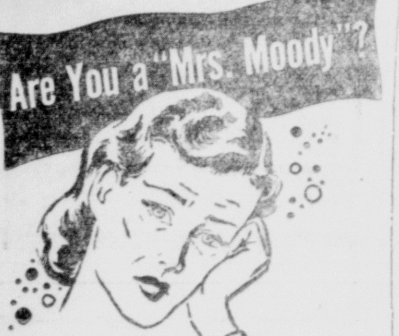

The M-69 incendiary bomb was developed by the Chemical Warfare Service, in collaboration with Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, and is now being turned out in huge quantities by many manufacturers.

Pfc. Berdine Plays a Part In Invasions

News of the past few days added importance and interest to the following special dispatch received from headquarters of the First Allied Airborne Army:

Pfc. Ray J. Berdine, son of Mrs. Ella Mae Berdine, has been in the Army Air Force since March, 1943, and has been serving in England for almost a year and a half.

He is a member of a Service Squadron, which is a part of Service Wing, commanded by Col. Franklin S. Henley. The job of Service Wing is keeping the planes and gliders of the U. S. Troop Carrier Forces, headed by Major Gen. Paul L. Williams, in operation.

Pfc. Berdine is the driver of one of the giant Air Force refueling units which carry high-octane gasoline for planes of the organization with which the Service Squadron operates.

He attended Warren High School as did his brother, Pvt. John J. Berdine, who has been an MP for the past two and one-half years.

Tidioute Lad Is Back Again

Pvt. Clifford D. Mickle, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Mickle, of Tidioute, who arrived last week by plane from England, has been sent to a hospital for further treatment of wounds received in Germany. He wears the Purple Heart and has two campaign stars.

He made a short trip overseas, arriving in France in January, and going by the famous French box-cars marked "40 men or 8 horses" to Belgium. He was in the battle in Germany just across from the Siegfried Line and in a little village, under attack, he was wounded.

Mickle was on guard for his buddy who was digging a foxhole. A mortar shell dropped close by and hit him in five places. First aid men reached him immediately and cared for him for 48 hours until he could be taken out. Since that day he has been in Paris, England and Scotland.

He says he's really moved around a lot on a kind of United Nations trip, on an American boat first, then on an English train, a French boat across the channel, a French train and then back through England and Scotland into the United States—all in less than three months.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Tuley, of Sugar Grove, that their son, Ralph Homer Tuley, C.M. 2/c, has arrived safely on the Island of Oahu in the Pacific. He was in the Mediterranean Area for 20 months and was home for a month's leave in December before reporting to his new assignment.

From headquarters of the Fifth Army in Italy comes announcement that Cpl. George E. Bogert, son of Mrs. Bertha J. Bogert, Columbus, has been promoted to staff sergeant on the Fifth Army front. He is a squad leader with the 85th Mountain Infantry Regiment of the 10th "Mountaineer" Division.

Pfc. Fred Swanson, son of Mrs. F. M. Swanson, of Pittsfield, has joined the First Armored Division's 11th armored infantry battalion on the Fifth Army front in Italy, the unit which has been sparring for an opening into the Po Valley. Before entering the army, Pfc. Swanson was a railroad worker.

Attack Upon Kyushu

To account for Sunday—the day an imperial Japanese communiqué said American landings were made on tiny islands near Okinawa, 325 miles southwest of Japan.

Disagreeing Japanese broadcasts reported variously that "savagely" battles are raging in the Keras 15 miles west of Okinawa and that "active fighting on land has not started yet." One report said "only a few units" of U. S. assault forces had landed while another said reinforcements were being sent in by both American and Japanese commands.

Radio Tokyo reported increasing numbers of U. S. naval forces operating in the Ryukyus and added "it appears that the enemy is definitely intent upon effecting landings on the main island of Okinawa."

At the same time, Soviet forces cleaned up along the west bank of Lake Balaton in a 14-mile advance that carried to the road center of Tapolca, leaving only 12 miles to go to hold the entire lake's western shoreline.

PTA Will Ask Improvements At East Street

The March meeting of East St. PTA had an attendance of 80 members, with a lovely plant awarded the second grade room taught by Mrs. Berg.

Dr. Wayne Helmbrecht, chairman of the lighting committee, reported on the results of his committee's investigation and the urgent need for better lighting facilities in the school. Mrs. Helen Culbertson, chairman of the school improvements committee, gave a report on the work done by her group and read a resolution to be offered to the school board at its next meeting. This resolution states the need for better illumination as well as toilet repairs and other conditions which demand attention.

Mrs. Martha Callenberg read a letter from the Fred Gertsch Company, asking for second hand musical instruments to be sent to the company in order that the instruments can be reconditioned and sent to the men in the service. Also, announcement was made of the April meeting, at which time Dr. William Ball will address the members on the subject of eye care for school children.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Dr. E. S. Briggs, county medical supervisor, gave a very informative talk on the work done by the school health unit of Warren county. Last year, 2806 children were examined and 242 visits made by this group. Any defects found are reported to the parents and particular attention is paid to the immunization of children against infectious diseases. In several cases, vaccination was furnished by the health unit without charge. The improvement of the general health of the Warren school child in the past several years is the gratifying result of the efforts made by this organization.

A general discussion was held at the close of the meeting and Dr. Briggs answered many questions concerning his work with the school children.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Time is catching up with the young fellows who marched out for the Spanish-American War. That was a long time ago and the boys in blue who went forth to charge up San Juan Hill and die of eating bully beef are now grey and somewhat bent. Bill Berry, who was in the regular army at the time, left today for Aspinwall where he will enter the hospital for veterans. Bill has been there before but the need for further hospitalization has been felt and he will spend an indefinite period. Aspinwall hospital is located high on a hillside above Aspinwall and has been visited by numbers of Warren men during the past few years. . . . Augie Karlson is rallying his cribbage players for the match this evening at the Elks Club with the Moose team. The match will be the final one in the series being played by the clubmen. The Moose have the championship of the city clinched, although there is some talk that a series of matches may be played between the Elks and Moose. . . . Never in the history of the staid old town has there been so much brush and rubbish from trees of the town piled along the curb as at present. The storm of last week took a heavy toll of the trees and shrubs and over the town hundreds of trees were torn and damaged by the weight of snow and ice. Borough employees are hauling away load after load of the debris.

John Rosequist, back from a long stay across the water with U. S. forces, is happy to be home. He had three desires when he arrived and has fulfilled 'em all. He wanted to have a "hot dog with everything on it" at the Texas Lunch; to look at legs of American girls with trim stockings on; and to see a lot of chubby babies. . . . Reports coming in from the stores around town are to the effect that the Easter business being done is better than it was at last Christmas time. Sales are mounting daily and stocks are being depleted. . . . When circuses were common, one of the features was always a trained seal act, when the seals played the "Star-Spangled Banner" on trumpets and did other stunts. In between stunts the trainer always tossed fish to the seals. Most of the seal acts were trained by Capt. John Tieber, of Tonawanda, N. Y. He has just passed away at the age of 86. Capt. Tieber had the "sea lion capital" at Tonawanda. Doug Kropp was raised near the home of Capt. Tieber and when a small boy played around the Tieber menage and aided in "training the seals" from a vantage point where he could see Tieber at work.

Billy Moran's hotel, at one time located where the Veterans Club is today, was baseball headquarters back in the days when Warren had its baseball team from which all baseball history in Warren is dated. Old timers, we'll bet, can visualize the summer cars on the street railway line stopping there while the ball players climbed off and sat on the curb taking off their spiked shoes before entering the hotel. And nights the hotel bar was a busy place with Harry Hall passing out the foaming steins and jangling the cash register. . . . Warren was a sporty town back in those days with the Lake Erie horse races on the old fair grounds. Pools were sold in the big barn in the southeast corner of the grounds and once in a while a "big wheel" was operated. Huge piles of silver dollars were stacked about the wheel and the drone of the man in charge. The duce, the trey and the Lovely Queen" could be heard for a long distance. The winners were pair off in clinking silver.

Strawberries are here and they are nicely flavored on this early in the season. . . . Maybe it's just the old taster, but somehow the coffee doesn't seem to have the tang that it once had. . . . Those boxes the Moose are having Jack Goldman pack for the boys in service contain a wonderful assortment of things the kids will enjoy such as small books, candy, gum, cigarettes, etc. . . . A serious shortage of work shoes is predicted for spring and summer because of the large amount of leather going into juvenile and military footwear. . . . It is said that inventories of work shoes have been declining for two years and are now approaching minimum requirements. . . . Burgess Ray Steber is not seeking re-election and is happily counting the days until his term of office is over. Several names have been put forth for the office of Warren's mayor but none have emerged into the

The final game in the Round Robin Tournery played by the cribbage experts of the Elks, Moose and Veterans of Foreign Wars was played last evening at the Elks Club. The final score was 65 to 45. Rudolph and Brown for the Moose were high scorers with 14 wins and 4 losses while for the Elks Karlson and Ostergard won 11 and lost 7.

Following the play a delicious lunch was served to the conquering herd by the vanquished. The final standing showed the Moose to have won four and lost none; the Elks won one and lost three as did the Veterans.

Some talk is being indulged in relative to the Moose team playing an All Star Combination composed of the best players in the Elks and the Vets teams but due to the lateness of the season no decision has been reached as yet.

Dear Sir: Have been reading with much amusement and no little apprehension your accounts of Warren's rapid shrinkage.

If such beliefs are true this news should be welcome to all Warrenites for until the ration board gets wise it shouldn't take as much of our precious rationed gasoline to drive between home and work. However, to our dismay, we find just the opposite true. Every week it seems to take more and more gas to drive this same route. Can you explain why?

Sincerely, Another Bewildered Citizen. P. S.—If Warren is actually shrinking, why aren't our property taxes decreased, since the property valuation must certainly be less?

As late as 1921, the War Department ruled that "the use of airplane for the transportation of sick and wounded soldiers, when other safer means of transportation is available, could not be justified."

Burgess Announces a Paper Holiday For Month of April

Burgess R. W. Steber this morning announced the inauguration of a Paper Holiday for the months of April and May, possibly to be continued for the duration of the war. This action is in accordance with a call by Governor Edward Martin for a two months' period during which "All patriotic citizens of this commonwealth are asked to conserve paper of all kinds, to carry merchandise unwrapped, and to save and turn in to local salvage collections all newspapers, magazines, bags, wrapping paper, cartons, boxes, cereal and cigarette containers, and clean waste basket paper of every kind for the war salvage program."

Burgess Steber requested all Warren merchants to wrap only sanitary packages as are necessary for sanitary and protective purposes; and all shoppers to take baskets and bags along with them so that unwrapped articles may be placed in them. W. T. Corbett, chairman of the County Salvage Committee, stated that this Paper Holiday is one of the most important events on the salvage calendar for the year 1945.

Pennsylvania is the first state to declare a state-wide Paper Holiday. A critical shortage of paper exists, and every scrap is needed for the manufacture of thousands of war articles, including containers for blood plasma, drugs, food, ammunition for the overseas forces. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania itself has conserved more than one thousand tons of paper. With reference to other salvage matters, W. T. Corbett requested that Warren County citizens also continue to save every scrap of paper in their homes, and to continue to save and process tin cans. There will be a tin can collection in May. The paper collection will continue through the county schools, and in Warren Borough and Youngsville another can pick-up will be made early in May. Metal scrap is needed again, and there will be a collection soon. Waste fats are still high on the list of salvage requirements.

Mr. Corbett also announced that a complete list of the paper collections by county schools will be published as soon as all the paper is in.
